DISCLAIMER

The compendium of operational Community Radio Stations provides information in summary form and is meant for quick reference and general guidance. While the Publisher and Editors have taken maximum care in preparing the compendium, they make no representation or warranties with respect to the accuracy or the completeness of any information. Neither Editors nor Publisher can accept the responsibility for loss occasioned to any person acting or refraining from action as a result of any material in this publication. The information summarised in this publication is solely based on the information provided by the representatives of stations concerned.

The information accessed through quick response (QR) code may vary from the information provided in the compendium as information on web can be updated by the station concerned.

Views and opinions expressed by different authors are personal. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting, Government of India, and OneWorld Foundation India (OneWorld).

The opinions and claims of third parties set out in this compendium are not necessarily opinions of OneWorld Foundation India and the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting or any of their affiliated organisations.

How to use QR Code?

Quick Response Code, or the QR Code, is a unique code, somewhat similar to a barcode, that will make your station's profile information dynamic - i.e. QR will help people seeking information on your Community Radio Station get the most updated details and information via the web.

How does one access information encoded in the QR Code?

Once you scan the QR code given in the compendium, it will open the Community Radio Station's micro-site on EK duniya anEK awaaz (www.edaa.in) -which is an audio and content exchange platform for Community Radio Stations. The information provided on the micro-site can be updated by the station from time-to-time. In addition to this, the station's profile will remain available to you on your mobile-just a touch away.

If you have a smartphone, you can use these codes quite easily. All you have to do is download a QR code scanning app from your device's app store, open it and use it to take a picture of the code. It will decode the QR code and then do the action the QR code is asking you to do, i.e. open your station's page on EDAA.

Here is a list of some suggested QR code scanners for each of the major mobile operating systems with direct download links.

- ⊙ Android - Google Goggles, use play store to download
- ⊙ Blackberry - Free QR Code Scanner Pro
- ⊙ iOS (iPhone/iPad/iPod Touch) - Google Goggles available on iTunes
- ⊙ Windows Phone- QR Code Reader
- ⊙ MeeGo - MeeScan
- ⊙ Symbian - BeeTag, use Ovi Store to download

Once you have downloaded the app, simply open it on your phone which should come up with a scan option. You will get an image, as if you were seeing it through your mobile's camera. All you need to do is to simply aim at a QR Code and scan. Once scanned, just click on the link that pops up and then browse and share the station's profile!

MESSAGE

Community Radio Movement has added new dimensions to the development paradigms of our country. For too long, development has been driven from the top by people who don't have real connections with the people. This government seeks to make a comprehensive break from such a scenario and take all steps to empower the grass-roots, so that the ultimate objective of people being in control of their own destinies can be achieved.

This objective has been helped by the Community Radio Movement. By adding the voices of people and communities to the development discourse, it has helped add a view from the bottom to the development process and given it the much needed reality check. Community Radio Stations have functioned as platforms where these views can be expressed and articulated and in doing so have fine-tuned the development agenda and more importantly made it a sustainable one.

This can be seen in case after case contained in this Compendium. These are inspiring stories of how sustainable and effective change has been brought about by relevant and timely information being disseminated to people in a medium and idiom that suits them.

Community Radio Movement is still in its nascent stage and has a long way to go. Ministry of Information & Broadcasting is fully committed to nurturing and supporting this sector so that it reaches its full potential.

They are partners in our goal of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikaas'. Through them we seek to expand our reach and disseminate our message to the weakest sections of society. Our Hon'ble Prime Minister in his 'Mann Ki Baat' has shown through personal example how important the radio medium is in both speaking to and listening to the public. Many voices that could not have been heard otherwise have been mentioned in his talk, showing yet again how this medium adds to the diversity of public discourse.

Ministry of Information & Broadcasting is keen to strengthen this partnership. The results of our initiatives can be seen in the success stories in this compendium. We have a genuine belief in Community Radio sector and the role that it can play in reading development goals at the grass-roots. I applaud the work of all the people in this sector who have taken it to new heights. The National Sammelan is a great initiative to take this forward.

My best wishes are with the sector and the various stations and stakeholders therein.

MESSAGE

Community Radio empowers local communities, it gives a platform to talent and re-energises arts by giving them a voice and audience. Community Radio also consolidates local knowledge and is a viable tool of interaction between the various pools of knowledge interspersed between communities. When we celebrate their achievements, we create and honour local heroes. This is the power of Community Radio.

Community Radio has a very pronounced developmental aspect at the grassroot level and the empowerment that it engenders through community activities ensures that the area realises its full potential.

In India, community radio movement is developing strong presence as is clear from the National Community Radio Sammelan which enters its sixth edition this year.

I am also happy to note that the Sammelan this year is releasing a Compendium which showcases the sector's role in furthering issues of diversity and sustainability.

I wish the delegates and organisers the very best.

MESSAGE

Ministry of Information & Broadcasting has been regularly engaging with stakeholders of the CR sector with the objective of enhancing the reach of such stations. Ministry with the help of experts has conducted about 70 Community Radio consultations in various parts of the country to make potential applicants understand the licensing process. Functional stations have also shared their experiences to encourage potential applicants, especially from CR dark areas.

Community Radio (CR) stations ensure sustained community involvement in planning, decision making and ensuring accountability. They play an important role in developing a society that is well-informed and aware of its rights and responsibilities. However, awareness creation is not their only distinguishing contribution. These stations also support capacity building of communities, help keep alive oral dialects, languages & culture, enable access to traditional knowledge and create a link between the citizen & decision makers. By enabling communication amongst various sections of the society and the government, they seek redressal to grievances and add transparency to social schemes and programmes.

Government continues to support growth of the CR sector. The 12th Plan scheme of "Supporting Community Radio Movement in India", with allocation of Rs 100 crore is indeed an excellent opportunity to take the sector much ahead. It enables extension of financial assistance for establishment of new stations and operation of existing ones.

The Sixth edition of the National Community Radio Sammelan is an effective platform for sharing and discussing all matters related to the CR sector, including policy matters, networking and technology convergence and ways to overcome challenges. Similarly, this compendium is a tool that significantly illustrates the history and growth of the stations. Both National Sammelan and the Compendium are helpful for evaluation of progress in this sector.

I wish everyone the best for the Sammelan and await news on new achievements that will further boost the CR sector in India.

MESSAGE

Dated the 15th March, 2016.

I am extremely delighted to know that the Sixth National Community Radio Sammelan will see participation of Community Radio stations from all over the country. It's a great feeling to see people behind the voices of these stations whose success stories have been recorded in this annual Community Radio compendium, which has become a reference document for all those interested in the sector.

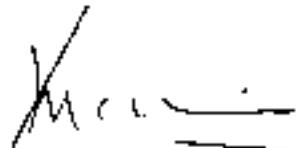

The amended Policy guidelines of 2006 have opened the doors to this powerful communication medium to grassroots organisations, agricultural universities and educational institutions, allowing them to provide a voice also to the marginalised and unheard. At the same time, it has also opened up a window to various sectors of the government to communicate directly with local communities. This two-way communication is the cornerstone of participatory democracy.

Our initiatives that have spurred the growth of the movement include holding these annual National Sammelans, Regional Sammelans, and awareness workshops in CR dark areas. Besides, we continue to conduct regular coordination meetings with various Ministries, follow-up cases meticulously, and facilitate in processing community radio applications. The online application status tracking helps in informed and nuanced planning. The Community Radio Facilitation Centre with toll-free number has been very useful in connecting potential applicants and in dissemination of essential information about the sector.

The 12th Plan Scheme — Supporting Community Radio Movement in India is expected to contribute to consolidation, expansion and sustainability of the sector. We expect it to accelerate future growth of the Community Radio movement in the country. Grant of permission to more applicants should enable in making a quantum leap in expansion of the footprint of Community Radio centres.

However, it is not a time to relax yet. We have to tackle challenges of capacity constraints, ensure more community participation and sustainability issues that the sector continues to face while ensuring that it explores opportunity for growth from within.

SHASTRI BHAWAN, NEW DELHI - 110001

FOREWORD

Community Radio (CR) is an effective two-way communication tool, especially in a diverse country such as India. Even in this age of e-communication, it is only CR that can enter each household on a remote hill, village or island and reflect the aspirations of the people. It communicates with the community through the latter's engagement and participation on concerns that are unique to the community.

CR Stations are still only a decade old in the field and given India's diversity and expanse, the number of CR Stations is lesser than anticipated. Some states have a few or no CR Stations. Ministry of Information & Broadcasting is, therefore, focusing on CR dark areas where no application has been received for setting up of CR Stations. We are committed to make regulation and licensing friendlier, in addition to creating awareness about the sector.

The Government of India, in recognition of potential of the medium has formulated a plan scheme under the 12th Five Year Plan, and allocated Rs 100 crore to strengthen the CR sector. This is a significant opportunity for CR stations to address the financial challenges faced by the sector in purchasing equipment, enhancing capacity and bringing innovations. I am sure that the sector would be able to utilize this opportunity well.

To briefly document the functioning of all operational CR stations, Government releases a compendium for CR Stations on the occasion of each National Sammelan of CR Stations. This year's compendium carries profiles of most operational CR stations in India. It contains details of how and why each station was set up, its programming focus, signature programmes, innovations in format, and the people behind the voices. New features like key partners and whether the station is empaneled with DAVP have been also introduced this time. Besides, there is a fact file about launch date, broadcast timing, programme languages, address and QR code of each station for easy reference.

This compendium is a celebration of the strides that the sector has made in the years gone by. It is also a testimony to the vibrancy and diversity of the sector as also its potential of reaching out to the last mile. The 6th National Sammelan, with its theme of 'Diversity and Sustainability' is a fitting occasion to release this compendium of diverse and sustained voices from the community.

PREFACE

Community-sourced agenda is a new high for the Sixth National CR Sammelan

By Rajiv Tikoo

The National Community Radio Sammelan has been evolving with each edition. This year's Sammelan – 'Community Radio in India: Towards Diversity & Sustainability' – has broken new ground in community-sourcing the theme, agenda and names of the speakers from the operational community radio stations. Views of community radio sector experts, who have been playing the role of thought leaders over the years, were also sought.

Designing the Sammelan programme in such a way was one of the recommendations from the last year's National Sammelan. Similar demands have been coming up in previous National Sammelans, Regional Sammelans and Awareness Workshops, too. As organisers, it is a matter of satisfaction for us to have been able to take this seemingly small but significant step with generous contribution of ideas by sector stakeholders. Understandably it has not been possible to accommodate everything from everyone at this stage.

At the same time, the Sammelan platform has been leveraged to provide an opportunity to more senior government officials to participate and share their policies, plans and strategies and explore how to reach out to the intended end beneficiary in far flung areas with the help of the community radio sector. Getting a sense of the progress made by the sector over the years and the opportunities it offers should be helpful to the participating government officials in taking informed decisions.

The objective of the National Sammelan is to get the government, community radio sector and the experts on the same page to revisit the larger national development discourse and find due place for the community radio agenda on it. This will also help in understanding the unfolding dynamics of the interplay between the national discourse and community radio agenda, and forge a way ahead for the sector as the nation continues to make progress.

In this journey, the 'Community Radio Compendium – 2016' plays its role of an important chronicler. It recognises the work of the operational community radio stations as they record it themselves in narratives and photographs. In keeping up with the spirit of the design of the National Sammelan, the compendium content too is community-sourced as in previous years.

In fact, the annual community radio compendium, which is just one element of the National Sammelan, began as a community-sourced exercise a few years back. This year the National Sammelan programme design too is community-sourced, which is a big achievement for a young sector. Of course, it can do better with continuous strengthening from within and outside.

BIHAR

Genesis

The community radio initiative by Krishi Vigyan Kendra (KVK) at Barh (Patna) is serving communities of interest groups located in its vicinity. Started in 2013, it broadcasts content that is popular and relevant to local and specific audience. The station is exclusively operated, owned and influenced by the communities they serve. As agriculture is highly location specific, this localised community radio station deals with demand driven and need based programmes.

This radio station caters to other key areas like health, hygiene, food, livelihood security, etc. Social issues related to a farmer's day-to-day life are also addressed. The content is created mostly in the local dialect for ease of understanding. The radio station runs for three hours in a day. While the morning programmes include Krishak Manch, Mahila Jagat, Akla-Fua and Lok Rang, the evening hour has features like Bal Manch, Lok Rang, Krishak Manch and Akla-Fua.

Thematic Focus

The station airs programmes on themes like agriculture, health & hygiene, entrepreneurship development, women's empowerment, folk entertainment, etc.

Signature Programmes

Krishak Manch (agriculture), Mahila Jagat (women related), Dus Ka Dum (health), Lokrang (folk entertainment), Baal-Manch (kids), Akla-Fua (radio drama on health).

Innovations in Format

Akla-Fua, created by a local listeners' group, is a radio drama focused on health.

GUJARAT

90.8 MHz

Genesis

Guruvani has been inspired by the huge success of campus radios around the world. In fact, in less than two years since Guruvani began broadcasting, it has succeeded in providing practical and meaningful education and training to its students. Apart from training the students on handling the equipment in the studio, Guruvani has also provided students the opportunity of producing and airing their own programmes, thereby becoming a platform for the students to communicate their concerns and challenges.

The station is stirring an interest among its student in their communities and inviting queries and addressing doubts over a range of career issues. The station is being run with the help of combined effort of professionals, students, interns and regular volunteers from the campus. The radio station has experienced the joys and sorrows of nurturing an interest in an unknown territory.

Thematic Focus

The station focuses on various topics including career advice, literature, mythology, philosophy, education, health, environment education, women's empowerment and social issues.

Signature Programmes

Guruvani: Welcome introductory jingle, and Gujarat University anthem.

Core Team

M V Rao, Dinesh Goswami, Dilip Dave, Shyam Barot and Chirag Chauhan.

Janadhwani

Genesis

Janadhwani CR is a community radio initiative in the most backward area of Karnataka (H D Kote Taluk). It has been set up by Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement to address the community needs of easy access to the information related to the Government initiatives. Since the distribution of the printed matter is a challenge in a hilly terrain, a need was felt to establish a community radio station to address these issues promptly. It was also necessary because in this Taluk, which has a tribal population of 15,000, other mediums like street plays and video shows were hardly effective.

Thematic Focus

Health, education and rural development.

Signature Programmes

Hadu- Hase, Nanga Kaadu Nanga Jana, Nammuru, Arogya-dangala, Raitha Dhvani, Yuvachathana, Kalarava, Vijnana Vishmaya, Kaanunu Salaha, Mahile, Spoken English, Sang-eetha, Jnana Sudha, Shikshana, Karunalu Ba Belake, Bhakthi Sowrabha, Jaanpada Loka, Bhava Sinchana, Shubhashaya, Vishesha Mahithi, Bele-Bele, Lekkada Katte (repeat), Manochinthana, Gaanagandharva, Surakshatheye Shri Rakshe, etc.

Innovations in Format

Broadcasting is done in various formats like magazine, drama, interview, talk show and live-phone-in. The local rural folk format of Harikathe is also popular.

Genesis

Neladani CR station was set up by Divyajyothi Vidya Kendra, a social organisation working in the area of livelihood and training for rural masses. The Kendra is also involved in various welfare and humanitarian response programmes.

Thematic Focus

Since Neladani CR focuses mainly on youth, the content is mostly on education, youth activities and social drama.

Signature Programme

Chinnara Lokha, a programme that focuses mainly on youth and their holistic development.

Innovations in Format

The CR station has produced many programmes with innovative themes. The station focuses on legal awareness programmes about property rights, women's issues like dowry harassment, sex violation, divorce, desertion, etc. Besides, there is focus on promoting equality between women and men.

Core Team

The core group comes from the organization, the community and the technology team of the radio station. Two members come from each stakeholder.

CRMC Members

The main thrust of Neladani CR station is on responding to the community and its expectation. So the members of the CR station are primarily elected from the community. These members review the programming every month by taking the feedback of the listeners. The members suggest necessary changes in consultation with the production team and programme committee, which works in co-ordination with the community representative and helps in improving the CR programming further.

Genesis

Kumaon Vani was set up by TERI in March 2010 in the Nainital district of Uttarakhand with the aim to bring together the local community across several villages in the valley of Kumaon as it realized that lack of access to information was a big roadblock in promoting sustainable development in this mountainous region. The CR station also enables farmers to share knowledge and information on agriculture.

Thematic Focus

Some key focus areas are sustainable agriculture, education and healthcare, water and sanitation, gender and education, forestry and biodiversity, delivery of government welfare programmes, accountability in local governance, and Kumaoni music, art and culture.

Signature Programmes

Mehakta Aanchal, Radio Mathematics, and Kissan Kal Aur Aaj.

Innovations in Format

Vox pop, live-feed through phone-in, group discussion and drama to documentary are employed.

Key Partners

Kumaon Vani works on collaborative projects with several organisations including Maraa, Gram Vaani, Ideosync Media Combine, and Disaster Management & Mitigation Centre. It has received financial support from Department of Audio Visual Publicity, and Department of Science and Technology.

Core Team

Mohan Singh, Bahadur Singh, Jitendra Singh, Narayan Singh, Hema Mehta and Ritu Arya. Two members from TERI and eight local youth volunteers.
